WASHINGTON, July 16.—The leader of the main body of the bonus expeditionary force—Walter W. Waters, of Portland, Ore.—was placed under "technical arrest" for a time at the Capitol today.

Superintendent of City Police William D. Glassford singled out Waters when he appeared to lead his veterans in a final demonstration protesting against congress adjournment without providing relief for the veterans. Later Waters and Donk E. Carter, of Cleveland, his chief of staff, were also detained, were released and taken inside the Capitol. Glassford took charge of Waters when the augmented "death marchers," who have been milling around the Capitol for several days and nights, surged across the plaza toward the main entrance.

To Keep Plaza Clear.
"I have told Vice President Curtis that I would keep this plaza clear," Glassford told the men. "It is best for you to go back until I get permission for you to congregate here."

The ten cheered Glassford but refused to budge. Waters was held as a "hostage" to insure good conduct by his followers.

Plan Demonstration.
WASHINGTON, July 16.—Forgetting its own internal differences, the Bonus Expeditionary Force threw its entire manpower into a final protest against adjournment of congress today.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New notes an attractive group of blue and purple hydrangeas at a home along Wilmington avenue, which attract the attention of passing motorists.

Last night's electric display was the sharpest of the summer. Going outside soon after the severe lightning had died down, the air smelled as if someone had been burning sulphur. The odor was very noticeable, caused by the chemical action produced as the lightning passed through the air.

Pa New notes that a splendid tennis court is being built along the west side of the Jamestown Memorial hospital. Nurses will be able to get a different variety of exercise than that secured trying to hold obstreperous patients in bed.

You've no doubt wondered how much space some of our railroads cover, and today we've found you a good answer. If all the tracks of the Pennsylvania were stretched out in a single line they would girdle the world at the equator and leave enough over to span the U. S. from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The road's freight cars last year piled up mileage equal to 4,363 round trips to the moon.

When the rainstorm's electrical display cracked its sharpest last night, Young Pa New was sitting at home wondering about the outing of the evening. It was a swell night to be inside.

Only the heat of the summer can call off this everlasting play of the checker artists at the Y. M. C. A.

Will Start Razing Buildings On Part Of Post Office Site

New Castle should see first signs of actual demolishing work at the site of its new public square post-office within a very few days, since the Washington authorities sent word here today that the bid of B. G. Coates for the removal of buildings on the Smith property had been approved.

Coates, a resident of West Washington street extension, is instructed through government procedure to have the land cleared within 20 days. The Smith parcel embraces a frame blacksmith shop and a frame garage, and borders the Diamond and Market way corner of the square which the government acquired.

Bids were called for by the U. S. treasury department only a short time ago. Coates' bid was the only one filed in response.

Postmaster Lake S. MacNab, who received his information from Perry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury department, stated that Coates would likely be notified some time today via mail from Washington.

Other buildings standing on the federal site have been vacated already but no bids have as yet been asked for their removal.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 16.—Prohibition originally started out with us as a moral issue. It was either good or bad for you to drink. Then it drifted to economics. Did people save more when not drinking? Then into racketeering. But now it's drifted into the worst angle of any, that's politics.

American history records no return of anything once it got into politics. The vote in the Senate the other day shows that morals, economy, less taxes, nothing entered their minds only "how can my party get part of the beer, and all of the credit?"

Beer has lined up with the postoffices as political loot.

Reznor Home

Beautiful Mercer Home Is Scene Of Blaze Last Night

PLACE LOSS ON
HOME AT $10,000

(Special To The News)
MERCER, July 16.—Mercer's organized firemen last night saved the newly-renovated Pipp street home of George F. Reznor, the general manager of the Reznor Manufacturing company here, from total destruction when flames broke out in the third floor quarters, resulting in an estimated $10,000 damage by fire and water.

Most of the ruin, however, was occasioned by water streams poured on the burning top in a somewhat successful effort to prevent a more disastrous fire loss. Only the upper portion was prey to the flames.

Combustion Blamed
Firemen said after the battle that goods stored in the attic must have created spontaneous combustion which ignited a blaze. There was no severe lightning at the time in the Mercer district to which the fire could be attributed.

The Reznor home, one of Mercer's most luxurious, had only recently been newly furnished and decorated with costly Oriental rugs and hangings. Other improvements were recently made, and it was the water damage to these that caused the greater damage.

The flames broke forth about 9 o'clock and firemen immediately responded. They fought the stubborn fire for some time, finally subduing it before it dipped down toward the second floor rooms.

Firemen George Baker and Edward Dillon suffered injuries as they went about their duties, Baker being overcome by smoke and Dillon suffering a dislocated left shoulder.

Arms Conference Due To Adjourn

(International News Service)
GENEVA, July 16.—Adjournment of the international disarmament conference before the end of next week was predicted in well-informed circles today as the result of the inability of the leading powers to agree upon any scheme for arms reduction.

"We are on the last lap, but the Lord knows whose lap," said an American delegate, explaining that no less than five different drafts of disarmament are being circulated among the delegations with no prospects of concerted support anywhere.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 16.—Inquiries into the strange, sudden death of Hyman Stark, 24, at the end of eight hours of grilling by Nassau county detectives met with steadfast official silence today.

Stark, arrested with three companions, was questioned regarding the brutal beating of the 60-year old mother of Detective Joseph Hizenski of the Nassau county police force, at her home at Roslyn by four robbers who stole a diamond ring and less than $5 in cash.

Stark collapsed while he was being questioned. Assistant District Attorney Littleton refused to discuss the strange death.

An autopsy today, however, was expected to pierce the mystery. Stark's three companions, Alex Drangel, Philip Cacalia, and Issey Stein, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Le Gluse at Great Neck on the robbery and assault charge.

The four men were arrested in an automobile which Mrs. Hizenski described when she regained consciousness and gave the alarm.

Week's Vacation Cruise For Democratic Presidential

An End

(International News Service)
ABROAD YACHT MARCONI. OFF MARBLE HEAD, Mass., July 16.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's leisurely six day cruise along the rugged New England coast on the forty foot yawl, Myth II, was drawing to a close today with the Democratic presidential nominee anxious to get back on the political firing line.

The trim little yawl, with the Governor at the wheel, as usual, sailed out of fashionable Marblehead Harbor early today bound for "Voyage End" at Portsmouth, N. H. Preceding he gets an even break with the wind after rounding Cape Ann, the Governor was confident he would be able to negotiate the last forty mile leg of the cruise and drop anchor before nightfall in Portsmouth Harbor.

As brown as an old sea dog from his week's sail in the boiling sun and biting wind, Governor Roosevelt said he was in "fighting trim" for the presidential battle which lies ahead.

"This has been one of the finest vacations I've had in years," the Governor said. "It's put me in tip-top shape for the campaign."

Governor Inspects Mt. Gretna Camp; Is Well Pleased

(International News Service)
CAMP O'NEIL, MT. GRETTA, July 16.—More than three thousand soldiers of the Pennsylvania National Guard lined up on the infantry parade grounds here today for their annual "show-down" inspection.

A board of three officers of the regular army conducted the inspection as required by the federal government. The soldiers pitched their pup tents by companies and regiments and spread every article of clothing and equipment on the grass in view of the army officers. Arms, uniforms, equipment and quarters were examined.

It took the inspecting officers all morning to make their check. The afternoon was devoted to cleaning camp areas and making preparations for thousands of visitors expected in camp tomorrow. Many of the guardsmen found time to don bathing suits and plunge into the cool water of Lake Conewago. Others played baseball and did "bunk fatigue."

No duties were scheduled for Sunday.

Pinchot Visits Camp.
Gov. Gifford Pinchot was a visitor at the encampment yesterday. He motored from Harrisburg and spent the night in a tent at division headquarters with the troops.

Several members of his cabinet joined him in the morning and made a tour of the National Guard training area. Astride a black horse, the governor rode about the reservation with Major General William G. Price Jr., stopping at each of the training areas and manifesting great interest in the instructions given to the Citizen-soldiers.

The governor expressed himself as highly pleased with the interest taken in marksmanship by the guardsmen. "This is the first time I have been able to see our rifle and pistol schools in action," he said. "It is of particular interest to me because all my life I have been a lover of the rifle and pistol. NEW POLITICAL
WEAPON SEEN

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 16.—Democrats and revolting Republicans on Capitol Hill today saw a potent political weapon in the scheduled senate investigation of the St. Lawrence Waterway treaty between the United States and Canada. But it was conceded the inquiry should hasten final senate action on this $800,000,000 development. State department officials are ready to cooperate.

The resolution authorizing the inquiry came as a surprise to administration senators. It was offered by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, after he conferred with Secretary of State Stimson.

"We intend to find out all the facts concerning the treaty," Borah stated. A subcommittee headed by Borah will be named to conduct the investigation.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, the Democratic presidential candidate, might be called as a witness. He has taken sharp issue with President Hoover, contending his state should be consulted before the treaty is given executive approval.

Adjournment Of Congress Session Is Likely Tonight

Final Action On Jobless Relief Bill To Be Taken Today

PRESIDENT WILL SIGN MEASURE

Home Loan Bank Bill Also To Be Enacted During Afternoon

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 16.

—In an atmosphere surcharged with excitement over the impending national political campaign, congressional leaders hoped to adjourn Congress by tonight. The session started seven and a half months ago.

Two major pieces of legislation, as well as many miscellaneous matters, remained to be disposed of as both houses were called into session early today to clear the decks.

The $2,122,000,000 jobless relief bill was before the Senate for approval of the conference report. The House has already adopted the report and President Hoover's signature was assured.

The home loan bank bill with its currency expansion riders was still to be acted upon finally. The House situation was cleared by the unexpectedly strong defeat of the Glass and Goldborough expansion proposals.

Final Action In Doubt
Washington, July 16.—Final action of the $2,122,000,000 relief bill was unexpectedly placed in doubt again today when a movement was launched in the Senate to force the House to recede from its demand for full publicity for all loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The issue had been regarded as settled when Senate-House conference accepted the provision and President Hoover announced he would sign the bill.

Fail To Agree In Conference
Washington, July 16.—The Senate-House conference on the administration's $125,000,000 home loan bank bill broke up in disagreement today as threats of a filibuster to block proposed adjournment of Congress were made by backers of currency expansion.

Senator Norbeck (R) of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate conference, said that the Senate would be asked to vote again on the Glass-Borah amendment which caused the deadlock.

All Hope Abandoned Of
Averting Irish Free State
Tariff Battle

DeVALERA ON WAY TO DUBLIN

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 16.—All hope of averting a tariff war between England and the Irish Free State was abandoned today as President De Valera left for Dublin to fight for his political life and Prime Minister MacDonald departed for Scotland for a vacation.

The hopelessness of the situation was admitted by William Norton, leader of the Irish Labor party, whose efforts brought about last night's vain conference between De Valera and MacDonald—conference that failed because the Irish president stood firm in his refusal to pay the land annuities which were due on June 30.

"What will be the next step?" said Norton as he was arranging to accompany De Valera. "Well, I suppose the guns will begin to bark—that is to say, retaliatory measures will be taken by both sides. The Irish Free State tariff bill will be put into effect as soon as possible."

"There seems to be no loophole left for further negotiations."

Mrs. Mary Sencie, 55, Bessemer.

I know a pair of holdup men, who plunder with a vim, they carry neither gun nor knife, but use a deadly grin. And when I go to see these lads, the robbery is on, and well I know they'll have my dough, a long time ere I'm gone. Their methods bring them quick results, a pair of rascals, they, for well they know their victim's wiles, before he gets away. They gang him as he hits the porch and ride him through the door, and like as not attempt to throw him to the parlor floor. There is no law against these chaps, no statute to restrain, their plundering for we cream cones, it's eighty, looks like rain.

TRUCK FLEET OPERATORS PROTEST MOVE

New Proposal Affects Trucks

Measure Before State Legislature Would Limit Size Of Trucks

FEE INCREASE IS ALSO PROPOSED

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Scrapping of hundreds of motor trucks was envisioned today by members of the Pennsylvania Motortruck association, if legislation introduced at Harrisburg should become effective.

The measure restricts the size of trucks, limits their carrying capacity and increases their license fees, according to the association.

Oppose Move.

At a meeting of 100 fleet operators yesterday, it was stated by the representative of an oil company that his organization would be compelled to spend upwards of $400,000 additional if the measure is passed.

"This is confiscatory and we do not believe it is legislation to be considered at a special session," declared Joseph Whitney, president of the association.

much impressed by the shooting done here."

Training Neglected.

"Training in small arms marksmanship has been neglected here during the past few years for other branches of martial training. No part of the school of the soldier is more valuable. The difference between troops that can shoot and those that can not is the same as the difference between a fleet of battleships with good marksmanship and one with poor marksmanship. At one time our navy was the quality of their marksmanship, but that is all changed now. It is probably with its guns at this time."

The governor took mess with officers of the 28th Division and then left for his home at Milford.

Air Divisions Arrive.

Division air units of the guard arrived at Middletown, 16 miles from here, to spend two weeks in the field and take part in the division maneuvers scheduled for next week.

Major John V. Dallen of Philadelphia is in command of the fliers. Other units detaching here today for two weeks' duty were the 52nd Cavalry Brigade staff under command of Brigadier General Edward Shannon, of Columbia; first city troop, of Philadelphia, under Captain Effingham B. lobby tables. During the past few days those checker chairs have been vacant.

On one street of the city yesterday was parked a large truck and field kitchen equipment, marked Michigan B. E. F., and headed back home towards Michigan. On another street was an immense truck headed towards Washington and carrying a sign, "Provisions for B. E. F."

Lights were out for a time in New Wilmington and the immediate surrounding district last night following the severe electrical storm, one of the Pa New observers reports.

The residents along Pearson street were treated to impromptu fireworks Friday evening during the electrical storm. One flash of lightning seemed to strike the water running along the curb and followed the stream for about a block.

Firemen at Central station have received a card from several bonus marchers from Youngstown, L. Neumann, F. Dieter and Murphy, who were given five gallons of gasoline and some oil to keep them moving on their way to Washington recently, the men expressing their thanks for the aid given them.

Although last evening's electric storm was the worst of the year, there was not a single fire call turned in, which is rather unusual as lightning played about the city for some little time.

New Castle airport owners tried unsuccessfully last evening during the height of the terrific electrical storm to get a big Tri-Motor Ford plane to land, but by the time the officials had the spotlight turned on, the airman had disappeared. He was looking for a spot to come down on. He was headed toward Eastern Ohio. Several residents of the city heard the plane during the storm and were alarmed for the safety of the airman.

storm, the motor failed, and their ship crashed.

Dragging himself from the wreckage, McElroy, seriously cut, discovered that Gordon had been killed instantly. McElroy found himself alone, without knowledge of the jungle, and with no tools with which to fight his way out.

After grimly attempting to place Gordon's body so that it would be safe from wild animals, McElroy struck out for civilization, knowing only vaguely that it lay somewhere to the north across a small mountain range.

Seventeen days of wandering, now proved to have been in circles, followed, and every one of these days, with hunger and exhaustion growing, carried McElroy nearer to a jungle death. Finally he stumbled upon the hatch of a native, crawled to it, and dropped inert before Melard Enriquez, its occupant.

The native hurried here with news of the white foreigner, with whom he could not converse, and local searching parties, already on the lookout for McElroy and Gordon as a result of urgent messages from the American embassy in Mexico City, set out to rescue the man.

These parties still sought the body of Gordon and the wrecked plane in the Sierra mountains, where the crash occurred. A full 24-hour search was futile, but the hunt continued.

"We wish the nations to know that any modification of obligations due the United States from other countries can be consummated only by affirmative action of the people of the United States themselves or by the legislative body which speaks in behalf of the people—The United States Senate."

The United States must inform the world, Lewis insisted, that "her people are unanimous against" debt revision or cancellation.

BONUS MARCHERS IN FINAL PROTEST AROUND CAPITOL

from Walter W. Waters, national commander of the B. E. F. comprising the main body of the veterans, and from John Pace, leader of the so-called "Left Wing." The word went out to the encamped thousands to assemble before the Capitol. The senate and house prepared to quit without enacting legislation for immediate payment of the veteran adjusted service compensation certificates which became due in 1945.

See Bigger Crowd

Today's projected gathering promised to bring far more men than have hitherto taken part in demonstrations before the Capitol.

Back of the mass meeting plan lay another idea fraught with danger to the veterans. Led by Robertson, the marchers were considering assembly in front of the White House when congress goes home. Robertson's California "rebels" have picketed the Capitol continuously in a "march of death" for three days, declaring they would not quit until they dropped, and it was this determined group which led the as yet inactive movement to move on the White House.

Robertson had issued a call to every marcher to join his contingent and more than a thousand deserted the main body by his banner. A hard, brief rain failed to dim the enthusiasm of the Capitol picketers. Some of them had been marching sixty hours with but four hours rest, but they stuck through the rain and darkness, and dawn found them still trudging wearily along the Capitol walks with rain falling intermittently.

Reinforce Police Lines

Police reinforced their lines and all thought of clearing the veterans from Capitol grounds was abandoned, unless serious disorder occurs. Marines and army troops were directed to be ready for any emergency.

Today's assembly brings together three main factors of the army which hitherto have avoided each other. Robertson and his Californians, newly arrived, refused to join with Waters' main body and both leaders have steered clear of Pace's communistic element.

Robertson said, "We will be on hand to bid the house and senate goodbye, but not good luck, if they adjourn today without adopting legislation for payment of the bonus. We will picket the White House if the men think such action suitable, and if no congressional action is secured."

Robertson has already declared his intention of taking his men home soon after adjournment of congress, in order to fight the veterans' battle at the political ballot box. Waters announced he will follow adjournment with an intensive national drive to enlist all veterans, their families and friends, in a similar move, although he plans to keep the approximately 10,000 men enlisted under him in Washington until action on the bonus is secured "if it takes until 1945."

Victim Of Suicide

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 16.—

Dependent over the possibility of becoming a public charge, Paul Gacmancovsky, 55, unemployed, committed suicide today by firing a bullet through his right temple.

Leaving a note saying, "I don't want to be a burden," Gacmancovsky went off to the woods with the apparent intention of picking berries and killed himself behind a dance hall.

Miss Hanlon continued her search along the stands on the highway and finally located the bag. It went forward to Mrs. Shaw today.

Membership in the American Automobile Association proved to be an asset to Mrs. Leonard Shaw of Grand Blanc, Mich., on Friday.

Mrs. Shaw was on her way home from the East and lost a small handbag containing personal belongings and jewelry to the value of $1,500.

She discovered her loss between New Castle and Cleveland, O., and telephoned from Cleveland to Miss Verna Hanlon, assistant manager of New Castle Motor Club. Mrs. Shaw said she thought she might have left the bag in a confectionery stand on the Butler road.

Miss Hanlon drove out to the place in question, but they had no

PASTOR AND WIFE GIVEN RECEPTION

One of the most delightful occasions in the history of the First Congregational church was that of last evening, when the members of the congregation and friends to the number of approximately 300 gathered at the church on East Reynolds street and tendered the pastor, Rev. Rees T. Williams, and his bride of recent date, a reception, during the course of which presentation was made on behalf of the congregation and of the Louise Davies class of useful and suitable gifts.

The affair was featured by a program of music, recitations and addresses that was in keeping with the occasion and Councilman D. O. Davies presided. The evening was brought to a close with the serving of delicious refreshments in the dining room of the church by the young ladies of the congregation, who were attractively dressed in white.

In the serving of the refreshments the pastor and his bride and the board of deacons and their wives were seated at the head table. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones of Pittsburgh, the former being secretary to United States Senator James J. Davis, were special guests of the evening, and Mrs. Jones participated in the evening's program with a solo.

The gift of the congregation to Rev. and Mrs. Williams was a fine gas range, while that of the Louise Davies class was an electric percolator. Mrs. John M. Evans was the accompanist of the evening. A pleasing feature of the evening following the serving of the refreshments was the singing of several selections by the wife of the pastor, who is the possessor of a fine voice.

The program of the evening follows: piano solo, Miss Anna Smith; solo, Miss Florrie Davis; violin solo, Master Thomas Evans; vocal solo, Harry Evans; reading, Miss Betty Cope; vocal solo, Mrs. Fred Jones; reading, Griff Thomas; vocal solo, Master Harry Jones, boy soprano; vocal solo, George Anthony; vocal solo, David Lewis; short addresses by Griff Jones, deacon, and J. C. Williams, superintendent of the Sunday school; presentation of gift of the Louise Davies class by Master Jackie Matthews; response by Rev. Williams; presentation of church gift by William Powell; response by Mrs. Williams, wife of the pastor; short addresses by Deacons D. T. Evans and W. Pritchard; remarks by Harry Jones and singing of "God Be With You Until We Meet Again", with Griff Thomas leading.

The committee in charge of this very successful event consisted of Harry Jones, chairman; Llewellyn Thomas, Griff Jones, John C. Williams, David Lewis, Mrs. William Powell, Mrs. John M. Evans, Mrs. Samuel Matthews, Rachel Samuels, Hannah Richards and Leshon Coughlin.

NEWS EMPLOYEES PICNIC AT LAKEWOOD

With the weather looking most favorably Friday evening at 5:30 the female contingent of The New Castle News left the office, bound for Lakewood and an evening's outing.

Arriving at Lakewood they took possession of the B. P. W. cottage and within a short time a most delicious dinner was served on the spacious porch of the cottage, which overlooks the lake, with each girl doing her part toward the preparation of the feast.

When the dinner had been served and the dish washing was over card tables were arranged and a period of bridge ensued, but in the midst of this the weather man decided to take a hand and an electrical display seemed too close for convenience caused, the group to go inside the cottage and then old Jupiter Pluvius began his work and as the torrents of rain descended it was decided to make a break for the cars and home, but with their best fingers on the group decided they could not risk spoiling this so duck fashion, there was a parade of bare-footed girls came down the road to where the cars were parked.

In spite of weather conditions the group decided it was the best outing they had ever held and decided on another one for the near future.

BRILLIANT FETE FOR NEW PASTOR

The members of the Primitive Methodist congregation welcomed the new pastor, Rev. Harold Sutton, and his wife, in a royal manner Friday evening when over one hundred persons assembled on the spacious lawn of the I. E. George home on Pennsylvania Avenue extension for an evening of getting acquainted.

Mrs. I. W. Tate and her committee were in charge of the arrangements, which were most delightful. Summer flowers adorned the porch, the garden and the spacious rooms of the home and a delightful program was presented on the lawn with the entire group singing an opening song; the address of welcome from the church was given by I. E. George, and from the Sunday school by Charles Ashton. A quartet composed of Rev. Lewis, Jim Mackenzie, Mrs. May Boland and Mrs. Margaret Bowen, gave several numbers during the evening.

Mr. Blair offered the prayer; Margaret Leight sang; Bernice Hoyland contributed with readings; Sadie Lewis had a vocal number; Elizabeth Lewis, readings; David Boland, solo; Mrs. Joseph Mackenzie, readings; trio, Mrs. Blair and two daughters; dust number, Mrs. Boland and Mrs. Bowen.

Mrs. Joseph Mackenzie made the presentation speech when the congregation presented Mr. and Mrs. Sutton with a beautiful set of dishes to be used in the parsonage. Most graciously both Mr. and Mrs. Sutton responded at this time, expressing their happiness at the splendid demonstration of welcome.

A pleasing number on the program was the Welsh duet sung by Ivor Lewis and James Mackenzie after which Mrs. Hettengbaugh offered a closing prayer.

About this time the weather man saw fit to send a shower of rain so the group went into the home where light refreshments were served where the members returned to their homes.

At a most appropriate time the guest of honor was presented with a collection of many handsome gifts in memory of the day.

On Account of Some Geese
I'll Not Make a Speech
Don't Blame Me!

By MARSHALL MASLIN

You wish me to go somewhere and make a speech?

No, thank you. You're very kind, but I'd rather not. . . . Please don't insist, you don't know what you're getting into. It would be a terrible speech. You don't know how bad it would be. No, thank you very much. I can't make a speech.

How do I know I can't?

Well, on account of some geese.

What do I mean—on account of some geese?

Well, it was this way. . . . It was the last day of school, long ago, and we were going to have "recitations." I was six years old, and I had a lovely new white sailor suit. With wide bottomed trousers and a wide sailor's collar, and I was very proud and I had my little speech all memorized. I think it was about a Little Red Hen and how she planted the wheat and how she reaped the wheat and how she ground it and made it into bread and how she and her family ate that bread. It was going to be a SUCCESS.

So I started off for school, with my face washed, in my nice new suit, very proud. . . . But there were a bunch of geese in a field I had to cross, and everybody knows what geese do to little boys in new sailor suits. They attacked me. They hissed. I shouted at them but they kept coming, and pecked at my clean white trousers. . . . So I ran and slipped and fell on my little backside in a puddle of muddy water.

I was late. I couldn't go home. I had to go to school and recite my piece. I was on the program and I had to be there. . . . So I stood up before the giggling class in my muddy sailor suit. . . . I wasn't a success. It's quite a chore being a success when the seat of your pants is all wet and you're thinking of a venomous flock of geese when you should be reciting about a nice little red hen.

That cured me of getting up before people and making speeches. Ever afterwards whenever I tried it I felt like a goose instead of a capable red hen, and I was never any good at it. . . . The only time I was halfway successful was when I put on blackface and went on with a Great Dane as the other half of the act. . . . You wouldn't want me to come around with burnt cork on my face, would you? You wouldn't? This is to be a serious speech? Well, that lets me out, then. I really couldn't. I'd be thinking of those geese and I'd hear them hissing all the time I was talking.

Of course you understand.

WILD BEAUTY
It does not make any difference how poor you are, you can love beauty.

It may be the lowly buttercup or the daisies of the field, each has a charm which it costs you nothing to enjoy.

Many of the flowers that grow wild are as wonderful in their beauty as those which cost much as cultivated flora.

Teach your children to appreciate the lovely wild flowers.

These wild flowers may be compared to the children who do not "have to be told" in order to get them to do right.

Your children have been taught what "eye service" is.

They know that great men and noble women are not the kind who do good deeds just because they are watched all the time.

Heroes and heroines do the brave and courageous thing at the time such service is needed without being asked or told to do it.

That is what makes them worthy of note.

They see and do instantly the right thing to do.

Many unusual color effects and unusual specimens are grown by cultivation, but there is a beauty in nature that money can't buy which blooms freely and happily for those whose eyes are sharp enough to see and be grateful for wild beauty.

EVADING TAXES

Only experience can demonstrate how much of tax yield predicated on a known volume of business, with some allowance for shrinkage, will actually be collected through the new levies created by the 1932 revenue bill. Unless the figures have very generously margined the premium heavy taxation put on legitimate forms of evasion, the budget-balancers are likely to be disappointed.

Official estimates of gains from new taxation are necessarily based largely on guesswork. The question arises whether the guessers foresaw the extent to which the taxed will find legitimate ways of evasion.

Motion picture theatres are lowering their prices so they will come within the tax-exempt limits. Tire manufacturers and dealers encouraged the public to stock up with new tires for a year in order to avoid the tax on tires. The motor industry did the same.

The city of Boston will save $8,000 a year by delivering tax notices by employees instead of sending them through the mails at the increased postal rate. Many municipalities and corporations will follow its example.

Bankers, who certainly understand the necessity of obtaining maximum results from the national taxes, have it is reported, devised a system of receipts for avoiding the tax on checks. The tax on checks discourages the payment of bills by check and causes a revival of the old system of making up payrolls in cash instead of paying by check. The person who pays his bills with cash instead of mailing a check will save five cents (the two cent check tax and the three cent stamp) and the cost of an envelope.

On every hand methods are devised to avoid payment of the new taxes. Nothing so promotes thrift and craft as new taxes that strike directly home.

They're planning to get married, and I'm rather glad they are.

Although the road ahead today seems difficult and far.

They've very little money, and I'm rather pleased at that.

They'll know the joy of striving in an inexpensive flat.

They're launching out together with high hopes and courage great.

They've dreamed of having riches, but they've chosen not to wait.

And they're starting out with little—just his salary every week—

And they'll have to save and struggle now for every gain they seek.

Their bills will give them trouble, and they'll sigh for things in vain.

She's going to do the cooking, and I fancy I'll be plain.

He'll help her in the kitchen and he'll dry the dishes, too,

And learn a lot of duties that he never thought he'd do.

But every chair they purchase will be indented with delight;

Every crinkled towel and saved for will with joy be doubly bright.

So I'm not the least bit sorry, but am positively glad,

For they'll know the fun of striving which their dads and mothers had.

People who think real estate bears too much taxes should make an effort to pass some of the real estate tax to other things. Look at the birds a sales tax would reach who never pay anything and still the sales tax is voted down.

I see in one of the local papers where some free advertisements claim that on July 30 you will be for a space of 50 years on The News without a break and also without The News in the same time being broke.

I see also where L. Castle in an essay to you the other day claims that so far as he was able to judge the same your not so good traits was about balanced by your virtues.

Well Lawrence is getting old too & he might not be able to see so well any more & anyway as my old friend Bill Shakespeare used to say time lends enchantment to the view.

And anyhow after all the only safe measure of the same and also the only satisfaction which comes in paying quantities to any man after a busy life is the feeling which he finds himself located right under the top few buttons of his own vest.

As this thing looks to me Fred when a man gets to the place where he can look back over a long & mispent life & here and there along the way spot some time or place where he was able to do some parts of the world which was not so square with him or if he can fail to remember a time when his hand was closed to human need or want etcetera I say it looks to me as if he would be entitled to be satisfied with himself in spite of what some one else would think.

Anyhow 50 years is a long time to have got away with one job. It looks to me like if one man can hold down the same for that length of time keep his chin up while on other jobs of the same kind large numbers of men has come and went & not even left any marks on the sands behind them I say it looks to me like maybe you done a good job of the same anyhow.

Anyhow Fred we aint none of us as young in years as might have been the case a long while ago & during the years which we have known each others faults etcetera, it could not be said by you that you very often heard any bouquets thrown by me at any person on account of my life long principles that too many people is spoiled by an unnecessary praise etcetera so that any hot air of this brand from me you can bank your bottom dollar comes right from the heart.

So I can say to you Fred with a clear conscience that when the time comes for me to face the shadows beyond the western hills one of the finest memories of my long & virtuous career will be the thought that I have been privileged to call Fred Rents my friend.

THE DEMOCRATIC KEYNOTE
Of course one must not take key-note speeches too seriously. They are not supposed to be philosophical and well balanced discussions of public problems, and most of them certainly are not.

Still, making all due allowances for the limitations within which a key-note necessarily must operate, one can not read the Barkley address before the Democratic Convention at Chicago without at least a chuckle or two. For example, the Senator said:

"We must apply to the hopeful but misused patient (the prostrate United States) the recuperative processes of a Democracy which for a century and a half has responded to the emergencies which have always beset us at the end of every period of Republican control which lasted long enough for its virus to take effect."

That crack about the Democrats rescuing the country from the pickles the Republicans have been getting it in periodically for 150 years is particularly good—in view of the fact that the Republican party has only been in existence about half that length of time. Since Cleveland and Wilson were the only two Democratic presidents ever called upon to "respond to the emergencies" which "always beset us" after the "virus" of Republican control has had time to get in its deadly work, Senator Barkley evidently would have us believe that these two distinguished gentlemen were the ones that built the United States from the struggling and tenth rate frontier conglomeration of states that it was in 1860 to the most powerful nation on earth that it is today. According to the Senator, Lincoln, Jackson, Grant, Hayes, Arthur, McKinley, Roosevelt, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover had nothing to do with it!

Smith Support Of His Party Viewed As Influential Move

Defeated Candidate For Democratic Nomination Declared To Have Acted In Accordance With Spirit Of His Political Career

To many Americans, as shown by former Governor Alfred E. Smith that he will support the Democratic party in the present campaign is in harmony with the record of the man. His influence is recognized, and it is believed that many members of the party will continue to follow his leadership. Some profess to believe that he will appear on the stump eventually.

"The most human among all American statesmen shows that he is also a sportsman in defeat," says the PHILADELPHIA RECORD (Dem.), with the advice that his followers "should follow their chief." The COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE (Dem.) holds that "so far as the technical regularity of New York's former Governor is concerned, there has really been no haze in the atmosphere to obscure the vision of those understanding the situation."

The OMAHA WORLD-HERALD (Ind. Dem.) declares that he "is too big a man and too thoroughly a Democrat to permit personal differences to influence him against what he regards as his duty to his party and his country." That paper concludes: "The battle cry that Smith has sounded is a call to rally to the colors."

"He will bring wholeheartedly into line also," according to the SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.), "an army of devoted followers who, while disappointed that he was not the convention's choice, will join him in supporting the man who won the honor." The BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD (Dem.) avers that "Mr. Smith has pointed out the path which well-balanced Americans should follow, and altogether pleased with the outcome of the Democratic convention must take if they are not to be petty, giving up to personal chagrin what belongs to the nation."

The YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR (Ind. Dem.) remarks that "the country will admire him more for his decision," and that "the two big men and the use of a statesman to be spared from political life." The Vindicator feels that there is a place "for a man of his national outlook and influence in the United States Senate."

Referring to his statement after the convention, the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS (Dem.) asserts that "he is the last man to deal in weasel words or double meanings." The WORKINGMAN (Ind. Dem.) says that "he has won many of the issues for which he stands, in the Democratic platform," and concludes: "The candidates were not of his choosing, but they and the party for which they speak will have the full measure of his support. On the skill and vigor with which that support is exercised must depend in some measure, at least, the chances for Democratic victory in New York State; and victory there would insure victory in the nation."

The OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES (Ind.) states that "victory next November, probable belief that he will be found in the role of party speaker." The MERRIDIAN (MISS.) STAR (Ind.), observing that he "decided to repay party fickleness with full measured Democratic loyalty," calls it "a noble gesture well worthy of the leader and the man."

If Smith did not have provocation for leaving the reservation and quietly doing what he could to defeat the man that won, "in the judgment of the DULUTH HERALD (Ind. Rep.), 'nobody ever had, and he must, too, have been conscious perhaps painfully so, of these temptations. Yet he is a bigger man today, however disappointing his stand may be to Republicans, because he has chosen to play the game as he always has played it—as a smiling winner and a smiling loser and as an always loyal member of the party that has honored him so often.'"

Charging that the Roosevelt managers campaigned against Smith "months before any delegates had been chosen," the MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) declares: "That Roosevelt should have done this to the man who made him Governor, to the man who originally made it possible for him to run for President, naturally rankles in the breasts of Al Smith Democrats throughout the land. Al Smith himself has found obligations that require him to swallow a harmony dose of nauseating rank. No such obligations bind the size and file of his millions of admirers."

There is criticism of Mr. Smith's failure to put enthusiasm into his statement of party loyalty, and especially his silence on the nominees of the convention. The NEWARK EVENING NEWS (Ind.) says: "Roosevelt is not mentioned at all in the statement. That is too small an action for a man as big as Smith is." The NASHVILLE BANNER (Ind.) states: "Mr. Smith seemingly has forgotten 1928: the counting has not." The HARTFORD TIMES (Ind. Dem.) avers: "As a former nominee, Mr. Smith is not yet taking the position toward the party he should. As a beneficiary of great loyalty from Governor Roosevelt, he disappoints many admirers." The NEW YORK TIMES (Ind.) and the CLEVELAND NEWS (Rep.) feel his restraint is "not like Al Smith." The SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Ind. Rep.) offers the comment: "Mr. Smith is rightly conscious of the fact that on the one question which dominated this year's Democratic convention and swung the Democracy into a new and aggressive policy he was four years ahead of his party."

Having blazed the way in bitterness of foregone defeat, Mr. Smith would be less than human if he were not chagrined to see the banner of leadership passed to other hands now that the Democrats—perhaps with unfounded optimism—believe they have a chance of winning and have embraced the very issue on which they repudiated him four years ago."

'TIS A CRIME

It has always been popular and just now it is pathetic how popular it is among the politicians to blame Wall Street—the directors of Banking and Industrial America—for all present financial troubles.

Harry Alloway has dug up something interesting and published it in the Wall Street Journal. He says:

"While not only among the statesmen down at Washington, but widely elsewhere, flourishes the fine old bromide of a stupid Wall Street bent exclusively upon sordid selfishness, folks who happen to know Wall Street and Wall Street leadership merely by experience will get a whiff of fresh air out of a letter like this—written by a financier, inviting a practical business man to undertake a New York City public corporation's management."

"While I would not presume to advise you, the opportunity to me seems great for the rehabilitation of a great public service, and a great property, freed from a time from unreasonable exactions by the local authorities as well as immediately improved in credit."

"Whether it is our fault or not, we are at this moment, so absolutely bereft of public confidence that any new man would be welcomed by the public. You would, of course, be free to make your own decision as to counsel or any other position. As you know, we would like to have you take the job, but I would not urge it if I were not certain that you would make a success of it, with corresponding credit to your reputation as well as financially."

"Whatever your decision may be, I want to thank you for your uniform kindness and consideration."

"Thought of 'public confidence,' desire to gain it—carte blanche to formulate and pursue policies welcome to the public; is such aim quite in the spirit of the times? High Finance is forever proclaiming—"

Money As Life Aim Scored As Cause Of World's Misery And Wars And Disorders

By RT. REV. FRANK W. CRIGHTON.

Missionary Bishop of Mexico for the Presbyterian Episcopal Church

Until people learn that making money is not the sole purpose of life, suffering and sorrow will be rampant.

Wars, punitive tariffs, international disorders, exploitation of women and children and other world injuries are caused by persons with no other purpose in life than to accumulate wealth.

Millions of people today have but one purpose in life—that of making money. No person was ever created for that purpose. Our Lord's whole life in its character and purpose was a protest against it. And yet it is the consuming passion and sole life purpose of millions who call themselves by His name.

SENATOR REED AGAINST FARM SUBSIDY BILL

Senator Davis Is Paired And Does Not Vote—Measure Killed

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—Senator David A. Reed voted against the farm relief subsidy bill this week when that measure was killed for this session. Senator James J. Davis was paired and did not vote.
The farm bill directed the government to pay to farmers subsidies of 42 cents a bushel on wheat, five cents a pound on cotton and two cents a pound on hogs. The government, in turn, was to collect this bounty from the miller and the packing house who would pass the added cost on to the consumer. It was intended as a price-fixing piece of legislation.
The measure was passed in night session without a record vote after a great many Senators had left the Capitol. The next day, however, Senator Hiram Bingham, Republican of Conn., presented a motion directing the House of Representatives to return the bill to the Senate and this motion was approved by a 30 to 25 ballot, killing the legislation for the present session.
Senator Reed voted for the motion killing the bill. Senator Burdick, Democrat of Ohio, likewise supported it. Senator Davis of Pennsylvania and Senator Fess of Ohio were paired and did not vote.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—Representatives J. Howard Swick of Beaver Falls, Thomas C. Cochran of Mercer and Henry W. Temple of Little Washington are all opposed to the idea of forcing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make public the names of concerns to which loans are made.

In a test vote this week, the House went on record as insisting upon this publicity, first by a 170 to 169 vote and later by a 172 to 159 ballot. Representative Swick was paired against the publicity proposal. Representatives Temple and Cochran both voted against it.

Under the legislation creating the Corporation, publicity was not required.

Troop Receives Visit From New Castle Folks

Major W. Fulton Jackson
And Lt. Donald E. Dennis
At Mt. Gretna

MEMBERS OF TROOP ENJOY GOOD HEALTH

(By Forest L. Florida, Troop Clerk)
COLEBROOK, Pa., July 16.—In addition to the surprise visit paid by Senator George T. Weingartner, Representative Bart Richards and Richard Rentz, who were at Mt. Gretna for the purpose of reviewing the Regiment, in company with Lt. Gov. Shanefelt, Major General William G. Price, and members of the state legislature, the Troop enjoyed the company of many other visitors from back home.

Major W. Fulton Jackson and Lt. Donald E. Dennis arrived in camp Thursday afternoon and stayed until Friday morning, after which they proceeded to their respective training camps where they will be on duty with the ROTC.

Mrs. Harvey Blintrim, accompanied by Mrs. Bates and William Hahn of West Virginia, arrived Thursday evening to spend the week end, they reported an enjoyable trip and made excellent time to the camp.

Few To Qualify.
For the past few days the troop has been participating in the regularly scheduled tour of duty. Several of the men who had not previously qualified with the rifle, pistol and saber have been on the range and have qualified. There were only a few of these, the troop standing extremely high in qualifications this year. Back home, the necessary transportation to the rifle range at East Brook seriously handicaps the troop, due to the distance from the armory, but only six men went to camp not qualified with the rifle, which is an excellent percentage.

Sergeant Measel, our stable sergeant, states that the six horses received by the troop are excellent, two of them being very good saddle horses and the others being better than the average animal in our possession. Having 32 horses to drill with in addition to our own will enable more men to receive mounted instruction at the same time and also enable us to put more men in the various parades and ceremonies we participate in each year.

2ND ADD TROOP

Stand Inspection.
Friday morning the troop stood "bunk" inspection at which time each member displayed on his cot his extra clothing so that the inspecting officers could ascertain whether or not each man was properly equipped according to regulations. Later in the morning the troop and all other troops in the regiment stood field inspection at which time the men's personal equipment, their armaments and other equipment was inspected.

The parents, wives and sweethearts of the men in camp may be certain that the men are all in good health. No man has been on sick call since our arrival, except a few with scratches or slight bruises. They have been so well that Mess Sgt. Florida has had to cook plenty of food to take care of their tremendous appetites and they are going to return to New Castle in better physical condition than they arrived.

First Sergeant George R. Pollock cannot quite understand how the first sergeants of the other troops can find so much time for "bunk fatigue". He was informed by the troop clerk that after he had been first sergeant for five or 10 years like some of them he would develop that technique. On Thursday's problem he was about the only first sergeant out in the field and he felt quite envious of the "gold-bricks".

New clothing from the U. S. P. & D. O. at Harrisburg was received today and will be issued to those in need. The troop is very well equipped in every respect due to the efficient work of our supply officer, Lt. Seyffert.

The troop's payrolls have been made up and delivered to regimental headquarters, from where they will go to the United States property officer at Harrisburg. Camp pay will probably be received by the troops immediately upon arrival at home. The drill checks for the past quarter will also be due about that time, so the men will have a good bit of change to celebrate their return home.

Pinchot Cabinet Members Attempt To Defeat Bill

Appeals Broadcast For Citizens To Oppose Passage Of Steedle Economy Bill

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 16.—Two members of the Pinchot cabinet in appeals mailed broadcast through the state today attempted to block the cuts which the Steedle economy program proposes for their departments.

Mrs. Alice Liveright, secretary of welfare, and Dr. A. M. Northrup, secretary of labor and industry, mailed letters urging those interested in their departments to bring pressure to bear upon senators to vote against the economy bill which is expected to come up for final passage next Tuesday morning.

The Liveright letter was mailed to all county commissioners and directors of the poor. She warned them that if the cuts are made effective the state's institutions no longer can accept insane patients from their counties, that "certain cases" now cared for by the state will be sent back to the counties and the same would be true of prisoners now in the penitentiaries.

Action is Urged.
As counties now pay for the maintenance of their own insane and criminal in state institutions, members of the legislature have failed to agree so far with the stand of the welfare secretary.

Dr. Northrup in his letter which was addressed to "persons interested in the department of labor and industry," summarized all the activities in which it is engaged and forecast that all would have to be curtailed or wiped out completely.

The cut as fixed in the bill for the department of welfare when it reached the senate was $2,700,000 and that for labor and industry $228,200.

At 6:30 bouquets of sweet peas were placed on the tables in the grove and a most bountiful supper was served, with fifty gathered about, the guests being the husbands and families of the members.

Horse shoes and the park amusements were the entertainment of the after-dinner hours.

Castor Oil Fails To Cure Inebriate

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, July 16.—Castor oil is not a cure for drunkenness, Police Judge Alfred Steuer has learned. Blary-eyed and with wobbly knees, Louis Gehringer, 42, faced the municipal jurist and pleaded guilty for the ninth time in less than two months to charges of being drunk.

"A dose of one-half pint of castor oil or 30 days," Judge Steuer said. Gehringer drank the oil. Two days later Gehringer again faced the magistrate and pleaded guilty for a tenth time.

"Thirty days; sentence suspended," said the judge, wearily.

Treasure Hunt At Scout Camp

Dismal Rain Does Not Prevent Program On Friday Evening

(Special To The News)
CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 16.—The Martin hut was again winner in inspection Friday, having taken it now so often that the staff has lost count. The other huts have been tried, but evidently half-heartedly.

The slight shower Friday afternoon resulted in all indoor craft-work being pushed ahead. Arrow making, which has taken the camp by storm, moccasins manufacture and leather braiding all were carried on by their own particular devotees.

Last evening Mr. Horton, scout executive, gave a special hour of instruction on arrow making and bow string manufacture. Quite a large group of boys were interested students.

Swimming was as usual Friday with all the day's swims being in the Indian village "swimmin' hole". At colors in the evening Camp Director Leroi Norton presented Frank Robertson and Bob Penman with fourth year camper emblems and gave out Junior Red Cross life saving pins and emblems to Dick Hamilton, Bud McComie, Bill Boston, Bob Miner, Ralph Davies, Bill Shira, Bob Moore and Frank Elverson.

These boys have just completed a week's training class under the direction of Sandy Howard, Al Stump and Gordon Welch, who recently passed their senior life saving tests, were informally presented with their emblems today.

Dinner was much enlivened by the appearance of Mrs. Hannah's young puppy for terrier in a pitcher of water. The K. P.'s looked guilty. Perhaps they know!

Ralph Davies took his tippicanoe, "Ginger," into town Friday. It was sadly missed by all the campers.

Gordon Welch, camp clerk, had a leave of absence last evening and Ray Zeiler, another member of the staff, was recalled to town, making two vacancies in the camp staff last evening.

A dismal rain after the evening rest period did not prevent the camp from enjoying a thrilling treasure hunt. Over hill and dale the two teams, one captained by Bud Coss and Frank Elverson, the other by Bill Shira and Ed McCreary, raced neck and neck until the last note, where the second mentioned team won out.

Mr. Norton then treated both winners and losers to ice cream and peanuts.

So ends another of the eventful days in Camp John M. Phillips scout history.

TWO MEN WANTED FOR U. S. NAVY

Chief Boatswain's Mate F. R. Allison, officer in charge of the naval recruiting service in this city, has need of two men for enlistment in the service. These men will be sent away shortly and any young men interested should get in touch with the officer at once.

So it would appear that the judge also believes that the way to a man's heart is through his tummy.

FLORIDA POLICE SEEK AUTHORS OF THREAT LETTERS

Allege Effort To Halt Probe

Foreman Of Grand Jury In Prison Torture Probe Reports Threats

NONE OF THREATS IS CARRIED OUT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 16—Although a series of sinister warnings failed to mature into action, police today sought the authors of kidnapping and death threats against Al F. Gorman, foreman of the Duval county grand jury which indicted two state prison guards for the alleged "torture murder" of Arthur Maillefert, 22-year-old New Jersey youth.

Gorman received the threats by mail and telephone during the past 48 hours. The final threat, delivered by telephone, intimated his only son would be kidnapped unless he ceased his activities as foreman of the grand jury, which is now investigating the administration of nearby state prison camps.

Gorman reported today that a number of mysterious automobiles circled his home late last night but no attempt was made to carry out the threats. He was not certain whether the automobiles were driven by curious citizens attracted by publicity given the death threats, or by the authors, seeking an opportunity to carry them into effect.

"I noticed three cars circle the block in which my home is located," said Gorman. "They finally parked a little way down the street. I made no effort to investigate further." Gorman announced that one of the threatening letters, warning him his life would be forfeited if he failed to obey its directions, called on him to halt his inquiry into prison camp conditions.

America is counting cylinders and AMERICA PREFERS THE SIX

Since January 1st, buyers have chosen more Chevrolet Sixes than the combined total of all fours and all eights priced below $1000

When buying a low-priced car, do as America is doing: Count cylinders! And you'll say, as America is saying: "SIX! No more. No less!" America is saying that in the most convincing way it could possibly be said! With SALES! Since January 1st, the public has purchased more Chevrolets than the combined total of all four-cylinder cars and all eights priced under $1000.

Why? America counted cylinders and came to this conclusion: six is the ideal number for a car of lowest price! No more, because an engine with extra cylinders is bound to cost more for gas, oil and upkeep. No less, because six is the smallest number of cylinders you can have in a car and avoid the undesirable effects of inherent vibration.

A six, as Chevrolet builds it, is the happy medium between two extremes. It gives unexcelled economy.

No other motor car engine in America today costs so little for gas, oil and upkeep. It gives built-in smoothness. From 6 miles an hour to 65 or 70, Chevrolet is quietly, comfortably, enjoyably smooth. And because of this smoothness—plus the fact that the whole car is so solidly, ruggedly built—Chevrolet is a low-priced automobile that really stands up. It's a good, reliable, economical car the day you buy it . . . and it keeps on being good, reliable, economical after 5,000—10,000—15,000 miles of driving.

In addition, Chevrolet is a modern car, with Free Wheeling, Synchro-Mesh gear-shifting, Fisher bodies—and many other advanced features. Be cylinder-wise! Follow America's lead and make your next low-priced car a six—a Chevrolet Six! Unless you do, you can't expect the smoothness, economy and lasting satisfaction to which your money rightfully entitles you.

Final Tryouts For Olympics Being Staged

Winners Of Events At Palo Alto, Calif., Today Will Be U. S. Team Members

CARR-EASTMAN RACE INTERESTING

By FRANK G. MENKE
International News Service Sports Editor.

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 16.—More than 40,000 customers at $1.65 per head are expected at the Stanford stadium this afternoon when the Olympic finals will be contested to a frenzied finale.

The headlining attraction—Bill Carr of Pennsylvania versus Ben Eastman of Stanford at 400 meters—which was expected to be a 10-star extra special thriller, perhaps will result in a romp for Carr, with Eastman lucky to finish third.

Eastman Beaten.
The Stanford wonder-man indicated in the heat he ran Friday that he is burned out. The flash and fire has gone from him; too many races at a blistering pace, too many whol-whol unnecessary workouts have dulled his blazing speed and taken their toll in stamina.

But other events will substitute spectacularly for what was expected in the 400. The 100-meter, the 200-meter, the 110-meter hurdles and the 1500-meter should provide high drama and thrilling deeds.

So close is the matching of the men in the 100 meters that none is a standout. Eddie Tolon turned in a sensation 10.4 Friday. Emmett Toppino won with ease. Frank Wyckoff took it easy back of Tolon and Ralph Metcalfe came from far back to gain place position.

Track Is Slow.
The surprising thing about the times made Friday was that all were against a strong wind and on a track that was dry but not fast.

The 200 meters wherein Metcalfe, Hector Dyer and Bob Kiesel, winners of their heats Friday, hook up in the finals, should be a classic struggle. Each man won with ease. The time was under pressure. What they will do today when it's a case of one-two-three or off the Olympic squad should make history.

The 110-meter hurdles promises titanic deeds. Jack Keller, Percy Beard, George Saling—these are among the eligible. Each can shatter a record and it would be no great surprise if all three reduced the existing figures in the duel.

Sexton Seeks Record.
Weight men, high jumpers and pole vaulters will be shooting at the marks. Leo Sexton, who made 52 feet 8 inches—a new world's record in the shot put, is aiming for 53 feet and might accomplish the "impossible" feat.

Willis Ward and George Spitz will wage a royal battle for the high jump championship. Spitz seems to have the edge over his negro rival and Spitz will be trying for 6 feet 9, which would be a new world's mark.

The greater pole vaulters the U. S. A. has ever known will be shooting at 14 feet 2 1/2 inches—a new record.

And so it will go throughout the entire afternoon: great, great athletes, either champions or record holders, will be striving with all that they have to climb to majestic heights and many of them seem destined to succeed.

Rails Strength Gives Firm Tone

Main Body Of Stocks Moves Fractionally Higher Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 16.—Strength in the rails lent a firm tone to the market in the second hour today and while certain of the leaders such as American Can and United States Steel tended toward irregularity around their previous closings, the main body of stocks moved fractionally higher.

Continued reports of a forthcoming announcement on the four party merger plan after the adjournment of Congress furnished further impetus to an advance in the rail shares carrying Union Pacific, Atchinson, and New York Central up moderately.

The oil stocks while slightly irregular showed no signs of breaking their upward trend and Standard Oil of New Jersey and California held steady to fractionally higher, while Atlantic Refining sold up fractionally to a new high.

Utility issues with the exception of American Telephone presented a fairly strong front with Consolidated Edison in the van of a mild upturn. Telephone after opening unchanged at 74½ ran up fractionally to encounter selling and then eased off slightly.

Beauties Three

Looking more like three beautiful sisters than a mother and her two children, Mrs. Robert Fairbanks (rear) sister-in-law of Douglas Fairbanks, cinema star, and her daughters, Lucille and Letitia, are shown on their arrival at New York from Europe. The Misses Fairbanks have been studying on the continent for the past year and are enroute to their Hollywood home on vacation.

He Always Gets His Man

Seriously wounded in the gun battle at Albany, N. Y., in which he killed Edward "Fats" McCarthy, New York gang leader, Detective Harry Moore is shown as he was cheered by his wife at the hospital where he is recovering. Moore has been shot by badmen on three occasions, but each time succeeded in getting the man who shot him. McCarthy was wanted for the murder of a detective and for implication in the Harlem baby massacre last Summer.

No public worship and sermon in the evening account of the program at the Presbyterian Church, "The Trial of the murder of Earl Wright."

ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Newport Methodist church school was held Thursday in Prescott's Grove on the Little Beaver. Over sixty attended and enjoyed the day to the full. A sumptuous dinner was served under the age old maple trees after which the sports committee got busy with their varied program. The men played base ball, at which "Home-Run Babes" startled the wondering fans with their wild and weird work.

The young folks, all are young in the weeks, enjoyed the old Swimming Hole and the bugle call for the evening lunch when the last paper plate was licked clean, and the dishes consigned to the flames. The real, and quite wonderful sports features of the afternoon were the phenomenal sprinting of Mrs. Shellie and the tree climbing of Joe Newton. When it comes to sheer will power, nerve and daring Joe proved more than a match for those majestic monarchs of the forest. The feet of Brady's leap over the Allegheny river will be forgotten when your readers learn of Joe's successful attempt of dragging his feet to the top of the mighty maple where he retrieved Bill Winnial's league ball from its leafy hiding place. While Bill kept tears of joy over the ball that was lost and found, and Joe was once more upon the ground, safe and sound, a great sigh of relief and joy went up from the anxious watchers. It was a great day. May we all live to attend another.

Scene of Coney Blaze When Smoke Had Cleared

This panoramic view gives a good idea of the extent of the damage wrought by the disastrous fire that swept Coney Island, the nation's most famous playground at New York. At left is the skeleton of the burned-out boardwalk and at right are the ruins of nearly four blocks, comprising about 200 buildings which were totally destroyed with their complete contents. Approximately $2,000,000 worth of damage was done to property and 1,000 persons rendered homeless by the conflagration which raged for five hours.

Thousands Of Baby Pheasants Frisking Over State Game Farm

Hatching At Jordan Farm Nearly Completed; Laying Season Ended

Over 55,000 Ringneck Pheasant Eggs Produced In This Season

The egg producing season has just ended at the Jordan state game farm near Harlansburg with a total production of a few over 55,000 ringneck pheasant eggs for the season, according to V. T. Warfel, superintendent of the farm.

Of these, 18,500 were set at the farm, 20,700 were shipped to individuals and sportsmen's clubs who will hatch and release the birds on lands open to public hunting, 10,000 were shipped to game protectors who distributed them to other individuals in their respective districts, 4,700 were shipped to state game refuge keepers throughout the western end of the state who hatch them for distribution in the division in which they are located. Of the total production 1,100 eggs were culled out as damaged, undesirable for setting or use for experimental purposes.

The season was started with 1,300 hen pheasants and 275 cock birds in the laying pens and fields, of which approximately 100 birds escaped or died during the laying season. The first egg was produced April 7 and from that time there was a steady increase until the peak was reached in May. The highest production was during the week of May 21 to 28 when the total for the week was 9,666 or a daily average of 995 for the week. The average daily production for the month of May was 953 eggs.

Of the eggs set at the farm 13,000 young pheasants have been hatched and turned into the 40 acres of rearing fields in use this year. The oldest of these are now eight weeks old and 1500 of them have been trapped and wings clipped and are now in the holding field to be kept over for next year's egg production. The balance of the young birds will soon be distributed in desirable pheasant territory throughout the western part of the state.

The laying pens have been broken up, some of the birds being kept for another season's egg production and the balance have been shipped for distribution in the western counties.

Although the laying season has ended and the hatching is nearly completed for the season, the farm is still the scene of much activity as there are still thousands of young birds in the fields to be fed and protected, and to be trapped up and shipped, coops to be gathered up, disinfected and stored for the winter.

The work of preparing the ground used this year, for seeding this fall has already started. All the ground used as laying and rearing fields this season will be plowed and seeded to grow a crop of grain next season and produce a good crop of clover for the birds the following season. This work is done chiefly to give the birds fresh ground every year.

Distribution of the young birds will start soon, the shipment of these birds being made mostly by truck, making the short trips in the early morning and the long trips during the night if the weather is hot.

Buster Keaton And Wife Have Parted

Natalie Talmadge Leaves Their Home "To Think It Over"

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, July 16.—Buster Keaton, frozen faced film comedian, and his beautiful actress wife, Natalie Talmadge, have parted again, with Miss Talmadge leaving their home "to think it over" she announced today.

Miss Talmadge said she would return home Monday prepared for a definite course of action.

The new rift was caused, friends revealed, because Miss Talmadge refused to join Keaton on a trip from Seattle to San Francisco on a new yacht which he had purchased in Seattle and christened "Natalie".

Miss Talmadge did, however, accompany Keaton from San Francisco on the yacht, and all went well, friends said, until she became ill on a Fourth of July yachting excursion to Catalina Island, and returned to the mainland by airplane.

Their first separation occurred several weeks ago when Miss Talmadge objected to the comedian taking their two sons on an airplane ride to Mexico. She had officers halt the Keaton plane at San Diego.

Surprise Occurs In Swimming Meet Of Olympic Women

Mrs. Elinor Garratti Sayville Of San Francisco, Defeats Champion

By MICHAEL J. FOSTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

JONES BEACH STATE PARK, L. I., July 16.—Mrs. Elinor Garratti Sayville of San Francisco, Calif., stole Helen Madison's thunder from the world's record holder here this morning as the preliminary heats in the 100-meter free style race were run off to open the Olympic swimming and diving trials at Zach's bay.

Mrs. Sayville, who was queen of the water when she sprang herself before she was married, captured the fourth heat in 1 minute 24.5 seconds, two-fifths of a second better than the next best winning time, and more than two full seconds faster than Miss Madison's time of 1:22.5. The Frisco matron started fast in her heat and led Edna McKibben, Miss Madison's Seattle teammate, home by almost two yards.

The world's champion loafed in her heat, finishing more than a full second ahead of Helen Hendry of New York, who was timed in 1:13.6. Helen Lee Smith of Indianapolis, disappointed by failing to do better than second in 1:15.2.5, shutting her out of the semi-finals. The five winners and the nine having the next fastest times were to continue on to the "semis".

European Attack On American Dollar Has Been Silenced

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 16.—The end of the European attack on the American dollar was today in a sudden general weakness in the French franc.

Financial circles attributed the weakness to a realization among speculators attempting to depreciate the dollar that their task was hopeless and it was useless to continue. Private sales were heavy in Paris, London, and other money markets, and at the same time a marked increase in dollar buying was noted.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

It's one thing to have a garden and another to share the fruit of it with your friends. Which explains why we'll have fresh cabbage at our house tonight. Harry Alexander has a flock of it that is just in bloom or rather in head, in his garden on Leasure avenue, and if you can think of anything tastier than cabbage just off the stalk, mention it.

There was a time when the engineer of this column did 10 hours a day under the supervision of this gentleman. It was the days when people used the railroads to ship freight instead of cluttering up the highway with rubber-tired freight trains. And while we thought at the time that we were listed among the world's worst railroad clerks, perhaps it wasn't as bad as all that. It's only to bad actors that cabbages are given, and these after they have become over-ripe.

Perhaps you may have noticed it before, but if you haven't, Brady was shot, out on the Butler road, is now flanked by some beautiful evergreens. A touching piece of work, and whoever put them there had a sense of the fitness of things.

Attended the convention of a new political party last night, the Republican Party. After a stormy convention the candidates were named. Lydia Pinkham for president and Alfalfa Willie for vice president. The party stands for good roads and free lunches, bigger and better babies, with a bonus for twins, and a day off after every holiday.

If you haven't yet ridden down Cascade street for a peek at the community gardens located there, do it. The rains and sun of the past two weeks have transformed the place into a Garden of Eden, save for the snakes, and the appearance of the gardens is a commentary on what can be done with idle ground when a few fellows get enthused.

Red raspberries are in, in quantities. Big, luscious fellows that promise some rare eating in pies or some tasty licking in jam. This year's crop seems to be oversized, which isn't going to make anybody mad.

Improvement Seen At Butler Plants

BUTLER, Pa., July 16.—After a period of inactivity, two open-hearth furnaces will be started at the American Rolling Mill plant here tomorrow, giving employment to about 60 additional men.

Although 1,100 are being carried on the payroll at present, average daily employment is given to between 450 and 500.

Orders recently received and inquiries being made tend to a somewhat brighter outlook in the steel industry. Armco has received substantial sheet orders from a motor car company.

Bonus Marchers Must Obey Law

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—No matter how many men it takes and no matter what course they come from, the law must be enforced against bonus marchers as against everybody else, Speaker Garner declared Friday.

Position was taken at a meeting today of the speaker, the sergeants at arms of the house and senate, and David Lynn, architect of the capitol, held in the latter's office.

"I have taken the position that the law must be enforced," Garner said. "We have asked the chief of police to furnish enough men to do this. No law should be suspended merely because a number of gentlemen despise certain legislation."

Lewis today, at which Meogiotas was held for court on a charge of larceny of the clothing. Bail of $300 was furnished.

Miss Helen Theophilos of Farrell, also was held under $300 bail on a charge of receiving stolen goods on information of Miss Mates.
